Objective

- I am seasoned designer and proficient developer, seeking a challenging position with opportunities for expanding upon existing skill base. Designing has been a passion of mine since I was a child, and along the way I learned to program to truly have my ideas come to life with full control. Many of the things I have learned have been self-taught through the years, but I have studied and worked hard to achieve my degree, and to build upon my education. Learning should never come to a halt, for that is truly when stop living, and I hold those ideas close to my heart. For more about myself and my work please visit my website at: www.jhbwalker.com
